To Whom It May Concern:

Michael Naz has been working with our organization as our website coordinator and marketing specialist for the last four years. He has strategized our marketing to align with our messaging and has listened to our vision for our company.

Michael is constantly working to bring us new ideas and challenges our messaging to focus on items that are in high demand all the while focusing on marketing to drive clients to our website; thus attracting more clients to our brick and mortar. He has focused his marketing on all four of our locations at one time and is working on new visions for our up and coming location that is about to hit the market.

He is very open to our feedback and listens to our corporate management about our vision but is not afraid to challenge us to bring ideas of what the market is demanding and communicates to us the feedback he is receiving from clients of other businesses he works with.

I enjoy working with Michael and am confident in his abilities. We are at the point in our marketing relationship where I only have to review the content whereas Michael has delivered our vision for our organization flawlessly.

I recommend Michael for any marketing needs a company might have. He has extensive experience in many industries and is constantly doing research on what online content is effective. Michael also has a lot of knowledge in business development and is constantly working to increase the bottom line of the companies he works with.

Call me if you need additional information. I would be happy to tell you more about Micheal achievements with our company.

Sincerely,

Martin J. Richardson
